How we report on progress

Subjects set programmes of study with yearly expectations of what students should learn.

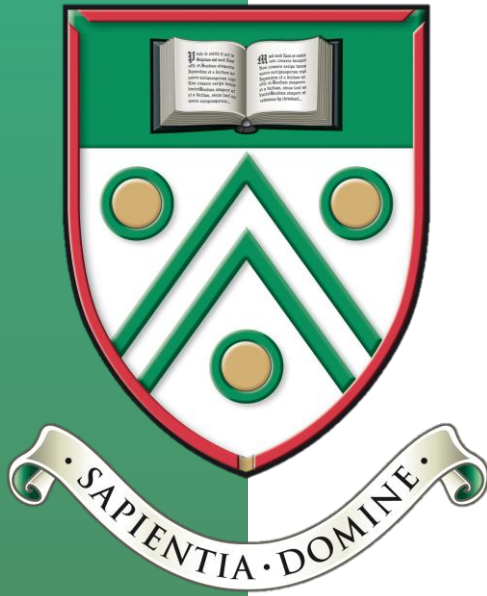

The expectations assume progress and development from year to year.

We report on whether students are....

- exceeding our expectations
- meeting expectations
- approaching expectations

(Our expectations are based on a 'typical' Langley Grammar School student)

We also report on students' attitude to learning

When we report to parents [1]

Pastoral review (November)

- In-school comment to form tutor from each subject teacher
- Online meeting with form tutor, parent and student
- Data summary showing Attitude to Learning (A2L) grades.

In-person at school Parent-Teacher Consultation (24th March 2026)
