Careers Education, Information, Advice & Guidance

Statement of Policy and Practice

November 2021

1. Introduction

Careers education, information, advice and guidance (CEIAG) make a major contribution to preparing young people for the opportunities, responsibilities and experiences of life by:

- helping them make a successful transition to adulthood through the development of skills, attitudes and abilities that will enable them to be effective in a wide range of adult roles in the 21st century
- raising aspirations and supporting them to achieve their full potential
- empowering them to plan and manage their own futures
- encouraging lifelong learning
- challenging stereotypes and promoting equality, diversity and social mobility
- providing accurate and timely information in order for them to make wise decisions about their futures, and
- enabling them to sustain employability and achieve personal and economic wellbeing throughout their lives.

2. Policy context

This policy reflects Department for Education statutory guidance as set out in Careers guidance and access for education and training providers (July 2021), together with other specialist advice.

This guidance includes the Gatsby benchmarks which are set out in Appendix 1.

3. Principles

The purpose of careers education and guidance at Langley Grammar School is to offer opportunities for:

- self development – to help students understand and assess themselves, develop their capabilities in managing transitions, set targets and recognise the influences on them;
- career exploration – by investigating opportunities in learning and work through activities and information sources linked to work related learning (WRL), work shadowing and enterprise education (EE);
- career management – where students apply the knowledge and skills they have developed to make choices and adjust plans to successfully manage change and transition.

These aspects complement each other by focussing on:

- learning through work by providing opportunities for young people to learn from direct experiences of work, such as encounters with employers and experience of workplaces
- learning about work by providing opportunities to develop knowledge and understanding of work and enterprise through local labour market information, and
- learning for work by developing skills for enterprise and employability.

Governors and staff at Langley Grammar School are committed to:

- providing students with a planned programme of careers education and information, advice and guidance throughout their school career, with opportunities at key transition points to access impartial, up-to-date information and expert advice and guidance from both external and in-house professional qualified careers advisors;
- maximising the benefits for students by involving alumni, other local secondary schools, employers, HE institutions and chosen professional agencies in the delivery of our programme;
- encouraging parental/carer involvement at all stages through Parent Teacher Consultations, presentations at key transition points, access to appropriate online resources and by providing regular information about relevant opportunities for students.

4. Students' entitlement

The careers education programme is designed to meet the needs of all students at Langley Grammar School. It is differentiated and personalised to ensure progression through activities that are appropriate to the students' stages of career learning, planning and development.

All Langley Grammar School students are entitled to:

- be educated in an environment which values and enhances their knowledge and understanding of the world of work, the economy and the community;
- a careers education programme that promotes equality and self-esteem and that provides them with the employability skills, attitudes and abilities to enable them to make informed career choices;
- have comprehensive, timely and up-to-date information from trained staff and external agencies and providers about GCSE choices, post-16 and post-18 options (including alternatives to university), enterprise, careers, training and employment opportunities;
- have easy access to advice and guidance which is impartial, broadens their horizons and helps them work towards their career aspirations;

Staff training needs are identified in general with the school's Training Manager and for individuals through the professional review process. The school endeavours to meet training needs within a reasonable period of time. Staff are kept updated about developments related to careers activities at briefing meetings, training sessions and via staff bulletins.

Funding is allocated in the annual budget and its level is related to whole school priorities and particular needs in the development of the careers education programme. The Careers Leader is responsible for the effective deployment of resources.

Printed careers information, university prospectuses and display boards in the school library and Sixth Form Centre are maintained by the Careers Leader. Online resources are purchased, commissioned and maintained by the Careers Leader with support from staff in the IT department.
